GAZLAY JOINED ARMY TO FIGHT

And Started Right In When English Sailor Spoke Sneeringly of American—A Cheese Burial at Sea.

Herman C. Gazlay of Accord has received the following letter descriptive of the travels and hardships of his son, Private Carl M. Gazlay, from the time he left Camp Dix to the end of the war:

On Active Service
with the American Expeditionary Force,
January 26, 1919.

Dear Folks:
Today is Sunday again and I have been cutting half all morning for the boys, but this afternoon thought I would write my travels and adventures in France as a number of the people have been asking for that sort of a letter, so am sending this to The Freeman to save using so much paper.
It is hard to get paper here sometimes.

Well when I first landed on this side I wrote of my voyage over sea, but now I will start at Camp Dix and will travel from there to where I am at present.

We boarded the train at Dix, went to New York where the Red Cross handed us chocolate and post cards;
from there we went to Boston and waited there for our ship; about a day and a half. While we were waiting we were fed by the Red Cross and sailors and we certainly tanked up well because we know what we were up against. Finally our ship came steaming in, an old freighter, English ship by the name of Cardiganshire, with an English crew on it.

When we were all loaded we started out; no one knew just where we were bound for, but we found ourselves Decoration Day in Halifax Harbor waiting for our convoy. When a few freighters fixed up for troops arrived with a tanker and one subchaser, we left there to meet the rest of our convoy before we reached the war zone.

When we were out about a day or so we began to get familiar with the crew, and a few of us fellows were talking with some of the crew and one of the Englishmen said, "Spose you Yanks are coming over to get credit for winning the war, ain't ya?"
Something seemed to flash over me;
I don't know whether it was my Irish boiling up or what, anyway I couldn't seem to swallow that. I must have had a sore throat or something and I thought I was in the army to fight
so I made up my mind to start then, so I biffed him one and when he got up I said I will take credit for that anyway. After that we heard nothing in disrespect to the Yanks.

On our voyage overseas we were fed on English rations and they were not of the best. One night they gave us some kind of cheese in cakes about 10 or 12 inches in diameter and 8 inches thick; when we cut it open it was all green inside, and we could not eat it, so a number of us got together and put it all in a blanket and carried it over the deck, singing
"Nearer My God to Thee and God Be With You. Some of the officers came down to see what was going on, then we lowered it in the deep blue; that was the end of the cheese; they fed us no more of it.

On the 12th of June we landed in Liverpool; from there we went to a rest camp in England by the name of Mourn Hill. Stayed there a couple days and went to Southampton;
there we boarded the St. George—it was quite a fast ship—and it was a narrow escape that night. We didn't know it at the time, but one of the crew told us next morning. We landed in Le Havre; stayed at a French rest camp a day or so. From there we went to Paris, then southwest to Vannes; from there to a training camp by the name of Mencon. After we qualified there we were sent to the front, all loaded up in box cars.
We unloaded at Toul and took up positions on the St. Mihiel front. After we had pulled out our big drive there we journeyed on to the Argonne front and traveled mostly nights, and of course we could use no lights; along towards morning we would make our stops, sometimes in the mud; most always in the woods, where we would be out of observation. Once in a while we would fire a digout to sleep in. Every day Fritz would be over with his planes taking pictures and a night he would come over and lay his eggs around where he thought they would hatch good; so you see we had to watch out step.

One night after we had our guns in position on the Argonne front I was escorting a train of ammunition trucks to the front and as it happened I picked the ten trucks with no rounds of gas shells apiece. I had them unloaded and was returning and the Boche started to send over some pills and of course we were returning some. We had no gone far when the road ahead of us was blocked, so I went ahead to see what was the matter. I found one truck across the road with the front wheels in the ditch with water up over the starting crank and it was so dark you could hardly see your hand before your face, but for the flash of the flash.
There were two ambulances waiting for the road with patients in very bad shape, so I saw if they didn't soon get to the hospital there would be no use.
So I got a couple of fellows and fixed up a road across a deep ditch and a narrow gauge railroad so they could pass and it was getting real interesting around there about that time, but we got the truck out in a short time and got a few men getting wounded.
The next night we went up they were handing out some gas, but it only lasted about an hour or so. That day they got rance of the ammunition dump and sent over some pills;
they also got rance of one of our tanks and put it out of order. Have also seen many air battles and many planes and observation balloons brought down.

While we were near Grand Pre we had plenty of vegetables that were grown by the Hunks.
About the first of November a detail was sent to a school in southern France at Le Blanc. After we had been there a short time the armistice was signed, and we had a big time.
From there we were sent to Bordeaux; from there to Camp Hunt.
After we were there a while we were to be sent home with the 27th Infantry but the order was changed and we were sent back to our regiment near Dijon, where we were all glad to get back with the fellows and receive our mail.

It is now time for chess, so will close, hoping this will find you all in perfect health. Best regards.

P. S.—Suppose you are wondering when I am coming home, so guess I might as well tell you. I will come home the first—the first chance I get.

"DIRECT BITE TEETH"

After years of experimenting our laboratories have discovered a direct bite set of artificial teeth. These plates improve the sense of taste and insure perfect enunciation and articulation. The teeth absolutely cannot be discerned from natural teeth. These teeth because of the direct bite have three times the biting strength of ordinary plates. Are you now wearing artificial teeth? If so, we strongly advise you to call and investigate this new plate.

No Friends L. Old Friends.

Freedom of speech, press, or available qualities were discovered, may embroider a day or week, but a friendship of twenty years is interwoven with the texture of life. A friend may be found and lost, but an old friend can never be found, and nature has provided that he cannot easily be lost.

GOOD BASKETBALL SATURDAY NIGHT

Centrals Beat Crescents 35-31 And Triangles Smothered B. R. A. C. by Score of 51 to 7.

Two exciting games of basketball were played Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. before an audience of about three hundred and fifty spectators. The first game was between the Centrals and the Crescents and was won by the Centrals with a score of 35-31. These two teams are apparently very evenly matched and if the Crescents forward, Ketchum, had been present the game would have been more exciting and probably a victory for the Crescents.

The score:

The second game of the evening was between the famous all star Triangle team and the B. R. A. C. team. Of course the Triangles thoroughly outclassed the railroaders as they were younger and more experienced at basketball. Robins' excellent foul shooting was the talk of the game as he scored nineteen out of twenty-five chances. Johnson and Dolson did some excellent playing too. The final score was 51 to 7.

Both Red Cross Rooms Open.

The women of this city are reminded that both of the Red Cross Sewing Rooms, the one at the headquarters on Broadway and the other at the D. A. R. Chapter House, at the conjunction of Green and Crown street will be in operation this week. The hours for work at the Broadway rooms will be the same as usual. This afternoon the rooms at the Chapter House were opened at 2 o'clock and there was an excellent attendance of workers. This room will be open and in need of workers tomorrow and Wednesday afternoon of this week also. From now on, as long as needed, the D. A. R. Chapter House will be open for this work every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon.

Restoring Gift Frames.

To restore gift frames take a soft brush and carefully free the frames of every particle of dust, then cover with the following mixture: The white of one egg and one-half ounce of chloride of potassa. Apply with a soft brush. Scientific American says if you desire to cleanse gift frames without tarnishing them, wash them in beer.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 24.—Frank Doyle of Kingston spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Doyle, on Riverside avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bigler and son, Daniel, of New York city, are visiting Miss Daisy Elsworth on Salem street.

Claude Potter of Buffalo is spending the week end with his mother, Mrs. E. A. D. Potter, on Broadway. Everyone gets in line for the entertainment, "The Third Degree," to be given in Pythian Hall on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty. Come out and have a good hearty laugh and you will have the tonic your doctor orders. Laugh and grow fat, that is an old saying, but absolutely true. If you don't believe it, look at some of our members and you will see what the writer says is true. Esopus council represents one of the branches of the largest patriotic organization in the state. There are several ways of being patriotic. Now is the time to show your colors and help on financially an order that stands for and practices patriotism among its fellow members. After the entertainment here is where we all come in and join in the dance. Don't forget to come. If you can't dance you can enjoy the music by one of the best orchestras in Kingston. If you don't have a good time don't blame us. We have the best material, now it is up to you to do the rest. Dancing commences promptly at 8:45. Be on time. Admission to all 10 cents. Dancing tickets 25 cents.

Raymond Howe of New York city spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe, on Main street.

Port Ewen Lodge, No. 658, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their rooms in Pythian Hall.

F. J. LaPine of Syracuse was the week end guest of his family on Green street.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. Durfee of Hurley attended the entertainment and New England supper in the Reformed Church Friday evening. Miss Ola N. Short of 181 Trempey avenue, Kingston, spent Sunday with Mrs. Ernest Huttenlocher on Broadway.

A TRAGIC TELEGRAM

Tells of Searles' Son's Death After Father Entertains Students.

William Searles of Montclair, N. J., the man who so graciously entertained the High School last week has many friends in this city. No doubt many knew that he had a son in the U. S. Army on this side of the "Great Pond" and two "Over There" with the same branch of government service. At twelve o'clock, the night after he had been singing so joyously to the High School students he received a telegram that one of his sons "Over There" had been found listed among the "Killed in Action" on the casualty list. To think that he had been entertaining a crowd of happy students all afternoon, unaware of the fact that his son lay dead after paying the supreme sacrifice "Somewhere in France" is almost beyond the human power of imagination.

JEWISH GIRLS ORGANIZE

To Collect Funds For War Sufferers Of Own Race.

Sunday night a gathering of Jewish girls was held at the Synagogue Agudas Achim to form a society in order to collect funds for the relief of Jews suffering through the war. I. Maniloff, of 51 Chambers street, New York presented the situation in Europe, where pogroms, massacres of Jews are prevailing, especially in Poland and Rumania. As a result of his appeal the following officers were appointed: Miss Mary Abrams, chairman; Miss Bessie Fried, assistant chairman; Miss Minnie Yallum, assistant chairman; Miss Rose Klein, secretary; Miss Mildred Ball, recording secretary; Miss Jennie Fried, treasurer. The society of the Jewish girls of Kingston promises to be one of the great workers to alleviate the condition of Jewish war sufferers.

EVERYBODY IS NOW FIGURING INCOME TAX

In Order to Be Helpful to Public, Internal Revenue Bureau Has Every Available Officer in Field.

SEVERE PENALTIES IF YOU DELAY BEYOND MARCH 15

With the due date for Income Taxes only a few weeks away, the collection of this far-reaching tax on 1918 incomes has started off with a bang. Everybody is figuring income tax.

Payments and sworn statements of income must reach Internal Revenue offices on or before March 15, and there are severe penalties for delinquency. Residents of New York state should make their returns and pay their taxes to the nearest of the following collectors of Internal Revenue: Vincent H. Riordan, Buffalo; Nell Brewster, Syracuse; Roscoe Irwin, Albany; Mark Eisner, 1150 Broadway, New York City; William H. Edwards, Custom House, New York City; Bertram Gardner, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Pay your Income Tax by March 15," is the slogan of the Internal Revenue Bureau, which has sent every available officer into the field to help the public to understand the requirements and to prepare the returns.

Who Must Make Return. It is estimated that many thousands of single and married persons in this section of the United States who have never before made annual returns are required to do so this year.

Income tax returns must be made between now and March 15 by persons who come under the following classifications: Any unmarried person whose 1918 net income was $1,000 or over. Widows and widowers, divorcees and married persons who are living apart from their husbands or wives, are for the purposes of the Income Tax classed as unmarried.

Any married person living with wife or husband whose 1918 net income was $2,000 or over. The income of both husband and wife must be considered, together with the earnings of minor children, if any.

Revenue Bureau Offers Aid. Each person in the United States who is in either of these classifications must get busy at once if penalties are to be avoided. He should secure a blank Form 1040-A for reporting net income up to $3,000, or Form 1040 if his net income exceeded that amount. Forms are being distributed by Collectors and their Deputies, also by banks. By following the instructions on the forms a correct return can be prepared at home. If a person needs advice or aid, the Deputy Collectors in the field will furnish this without charge.

The new Revenue law places the Income Tax duty on citizens and residents. The Internal Revenue Bureau is sending its men to work right with the public to get the tax and the returns in. With active cooperation, every tax due March 15 will be paid and every return required by law will be in the Revenue offices on time.

Exemptions Allowed.

A single person is allowed a personal exemption of $1,000. If he is supporting in his household relatives who are dependent upon him, he may claim the status of the head of a family who has the same exemption as if married.

A married person, who lives with wife or husband, is allowed a personal exemption of $2,000. The head of a family is entitled to claim a similar personal exemption.

An additional exemption of $200 is allowed for each person under eighteen or incapable of self support, who was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer.

A husband and wife living together are entitled to but one personal exemption of $2,000. If they make separate returns, the exemption may be claimed by either or divided.

Accuracy Required.

Absolute accuracy is necessary in making up income figures. Any person who is working for wages should find out exactly how much he received during the whole year 1918. Fees, bank interest, bond interest, dividends, rents received, and all other items must be reported correctly. Mere guesses are not accepted, for they are unjust alike to the taxpayer and the Government, and defeat the proper administration of the law.

INCOME TAX IS TRULY POPULAR.

"The payment of income taxes takes on a new significance which should be understood by every citizen. The taxation system of this country is truly popular, of the people, by the people and for the people. Every citizen is liable to tax, and the amount of the tax is graduated according to the success and fortune attained by each individual in availing himself of the opportunities created and preserved by our free institutions. The method and degree of the tax is determined by no favored class, but by the representatives of the people. The proceeds of the tax should be regarded as a national investment."—Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Antiquity of Glove.

Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England a long time ago as in Saxons times. Practically the only change which these have ever been in style of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels. It has been told for a girl in the fourteenth century.

BEAUTY FROM THE SOUTH

Miss Margaret Harding, daughter of W. P. G. Harding, member of the federal reserve board, was one of the three southern girls chosen by G. W. de Lyon Nicholls of New York as the most beautiful women at the annual southern relief ball in Washington.

Future for American Toys.

A consistent campaign has been waged by toy manufacturers to educate Americans to the proper appreciation of American toys and things are going smoothly in the toy industry. There is no doubt that the American toy product is every bit as good as, if not better than that made in Germany, although it is usually more expensive, because the price of labor is higher in this country. American toy makers have not yet learned to make bisque dolls or Christmas tree balls, but most people consider that the American dolls are much more "natural" and abundant Christmas tree balls may be had from Japan.

The Ex-Widow.

Mrs. Green—Your husband is certainly a fine-looking man, Mrs. Black.
Mrs. Black—Oh, he'll do; but you just ought to have seen my first husband.

Race to the North Pole. It seems that Captain Bartlett is not going to have things entirely his own way in his airplane expedition to the north pole. For at the present moment the British are also planning for a similar undertaking. So the airplane expedition may take on the complexion of a sportsmanlike race, with the Americans represented by Captain Bartlett and the British by Salisbury Jones of the British Northern Exploration company. Captain Bartlett contemplates going to the far north by way of north Greenland, while Mr. Jones is going by way of Spitzbergen; which, when reduced to mathematics, means that the Americans will have some two thousand miles to go while our British cousins will have only nine hundred miles of journey. Mr. Jones believes that his expedition can make the flight in about nine hours—Scientific American.

One Language. Ten per cent of America's adult population are unable to read the language of the country. Eighteen per cent of the "coming citizen" of the United States do not attend any school. One tenth of the first 2,000,000 men called to the colors could not read their orders or understand them. The figures are from Secretary Lane's recent report. There is room for only one set of ideals in this country and, except for newcomers, there is room for only one language. While the teaching of English is but one of many items in the Americanization program, it is an important one, as the figures of Secretary Lane proclaim.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stone for Rosaries. The rosaries sold at Kandahar are extensively manufactured from soft, crystallized silicate of magnesia. This is quarried from a hill about thirty miles northwest of the city, where soapstone and antimony are also obtained in considerable abundance. The stone varies in color from a light yellow to a bluish white, and is generally opaque.

June weather the winter 'round!

Watch Jack Frost melt and run when the heat is turned on in an AMERICAN Radiator and observe how the children's spirits rise! This IDEAL Heating makes a genial, healthful home—and the home is the rock upon which the family and civilization are built.

AMERICAN & IDEAL Now offered at 25% reduction to quicken and increase new RADIATORS & BOILERS building and remodeling!

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators make a "gilt-edge" investment for the home—nothing so sure in stocks and bonds as the savings you can bring about in your own cellar, and the health protection and comfort guaranteed you up stairs. Besides, the outfit lasts a lifetime!

Brings heating cost down to lowest notch

You get twice the comfort for the least fuel—and you don't have to burn choice, high-priced fuel, but instead get the extreme heating power out of the cheapest coal you can purchase in your locality—also burns coke, gas, oil, wood, etc. We have announced a 25% price reduction to stimulate building and remodeling. Don't pay the price of postponement by waiting until the building rush begins. Don't pay the high price of doing without.

Easily put in all kinds of buildings

Cottages, residences, stores, hotels, theatres, churches, schools, clubs, hospitals, greenhouses, etc.; whether OLD or new, are quickly outfitted. Act now!

Please order today for an estimate on putting IDEAL-AMERICAN Heating in your building. Send for catalog "IDEAL HEATING"—full of valuable hints and illustrations—should be read by everyone interested in economical comfort.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 24, 1919.
 EATING AND FIGHTING.

Apparently Senator Borah reasons that it is better to fight than to eat, while certain other Senators, who have not declared the intention to the White House dinner, consider it better to eat first and fight afterward. And why not? Fighting and eating have ever been two of the most absorbing and pleasurable occupations of man. The ancient Teutons were aware of this when they pitched upon those as the two supreme joys of their heaven, providing that the souls in their Valhalla should do nothing else. There is a certain pleasure in eating the best food in distinguished company even if one is not the observed of all observers or the acknowledged leader of the conversational discussion. After all, "a good dinner in good company is a mighty good thing," as a philosopher of Anthony Trollope's creation observed when the Duke of Omnium bade the "best people" of the countryside to a feast in his dining hall and then did not condescend to eat with them, merely showing himself once in the doorway and forcing them to be content with only a bow to the company in general.

A good dinner at the White House in the company of thirty-seven prominent statesmen is worth while even in the case of those who do not care to hear the President explain in detail the provision of the proposed constitution of the League of Nations. It is possible to be entertained even when one does not agree and nothing is so wit-sharpening as a lively clash of minds. As for Senator Borah's seeming assumption that by stretching his legs under the White House mahogany he would surrender his independence and deprive himself of the right or power to speak out then or later, that is, of course, ridiculous.

TIME'S CHANGES.

The school boys and girls of the past generation who had to write at least one "composition" on "The Changes of Time" rarely had so good a "text" to start from as is furnished by the following excerpt from "The Traveller's Directory or a Pocket Companion" published in Philadelphia in 1802, referring to the industries of that city:

"Manufactories, etc., are numerous, viz., upwards of ten Rope Walks, six Breweries, six Sugar houses, 15 manufactories of Earthenware, seven of Hair Powder, six of Chocolate, four of Mustard, one of Patent Nails, and several of Cut Nails, one of Steel, one of Aqua-fortis, one of Oil Colour, one of Glauber Salts and Sal Ammoniac, one of Parchment and Morocco Leather, two of Buttons, three of Candles, two Distilleries, one Rectifying Machinery, one Type Foundry, and Printing Offices, five of these publishing newspapers; besides three woolen mills, two of which are in Germany."

Great Hogs.
 The old lady was boring her visitor with numerous anecdotes about her dog.
 "And do you know," she concluded, "it's really marvellous how intelligent my dog is; he knows everything I say."

Bradley had had fail.
 "It is coming along well and wants to board the 5:15."
 Robert Brazee, Jr., has received a letter from his friend, Ensign Joseph Bradley. He is having it published so that all his friends might drop him a line for he is a lonely sailor boy.

THE ASSASSIN'S MARK.

American readers recalled with satisfaction that the President of this republic was sailing homeward when the dispatches informed them that President Chamberlain had been murdered by one of seven bullets fired at him in the streets of Paris by a young man supposed to be an anarchist. Many men of great prominence and decided opinions are in doubt for such a man is sure to find a quiet quarter. Among the friends who attempted to assassinate Chamberlain was the French anarchist who attempted to shoot the President in the streets of Paris. He was a young man of great prominence and decided opinions are in doubt for such a man is sure to find a quiet quarter. Among the friends who attempted to assassinate Chamberlain was the French anarchist who attempted to shoot the President in the streets of Paris. He was a young man of great prominence and decided opinions are in doubt for such a man is sure to find a quiet quarter.

war." The world knows that Chamberlain was joining in an earnest effort to prevent future wars, but there is no telling what is said against him by his personal enemies in France or those who oppose his policies.
 As the would-be assassin lived in a house frequented by anarchists interested in the circulation of incendiary literature, it is not necessary to suspect him of being a tool of Germany. Anarchist literature and bitter published attack by political opponents are, together or separately, quite enough to stir up the perverted or weak mind under no moral restraint to the pitch of murderous violence. It has been said that death leaves a shining mark. This is true of the assassin spawned amid human filth, tormenting and loyest dregs.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"To what branch of the service do the baby tanks belong?" "I suppose, to the infantry."—Baltimore American.
 "I represent one of the oldest families here." "Hum," replied the sarcastic man; "you suppose the family could have hired a better salesman, if they had tried?"—Detroit Free Press.

He—"I've got to take you in to dinner, Miss Travers, and I'm rather afraid of you. Every one tells me you are very clever." "How absurd! I'm not a bit clever." He—"Well, do you know, thought you weren't."—Boston Transcript.

"I don't like that auctioneer's line of talk," declared the artist testily. "What's wrong?" "Picture after picture of mine he puts up. And what does he say? 'Start it at $10, good people. You can't go wrong. The frame is worth that.'"—Kansas City Journal.

Misrepresenting a Bee.

English officers and men still experience difficulties with the language at the front. Recently an officer, seeing a swarm of bees settled near his bullet, rushed to adjacent cottages to inform the residents. But explain verbally he could not. So, taking paper and pencil, he drew a rough sketch of a hive, then waggled his fingers in what he thought the correct way. It was a failure, so he sketched a number of bees and buzzed a bee-some buzz. Thereupon the cottagers, together with one consent bolted to their dagobers, believing that he meant hostile aircraft overhead.—London Daily Chronicle.

Misunderstood.

A traveling man went into a southern restaurant for his dinner, and after looking in disgust over the menu, he inquired of the manager and ancient dandy who stuffed forward to take his order: "Well, Sam, have you got frogs legs to-day?"
 "No, sah, no sah," protested the dandy; "it am jes' de rheumatiz dat makes me walk dis way."—Everybody's Magazine.

Valuable African Tree.

A tree known as the shea is beginning to attract commercial attention in Western Africa. It supplies the natives not only with nuts, which they highly prize, but with a butter that may become an article of commercial importance. It is already exported to Europe, where makers of artificial butter find use for it.

Peat in Manitoba.

The Canadian department of mines has recently investigated 18 peat bogs in Manitoba and in a report on the supply of this fuel available in that province states that there are bogs in the Winnipeg river district containing 1,800,000 tons of peat fuel, 25 per cent moisture.

LUTHERANS JOIN IN CELEBRATION

70th Anniversary of Founding of Spring Street Church—Dr. Offer-mann Delivered Sermon.

The seventieth anniversary celebration at the Spring Street German Lutheran Church on Sunday proved unusually interesting to those of that denomination. In spite of the disagreeable weather conditions, the morning service, which was in German, was largely attended. The church was very attractive, the interior being decorated with carnations and garlands of flowers resting on the altar. The beautiful full length sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. H. F. Offermann, a professor at the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, whose text was Thessalonians, first chapter. The three main thoughts, which he expounded very clearly and expressively, were: The Gospel, the power of Gospel, and the fruit of the Gospel. What St. Paul said of the congregation at Thessalonica, he applied to the jubilee gathering; and his discourse was much appreciated.

At the jubilee celebration held by the Sunday school in the afternoon, Dr. Offermann and the Rev. Mr. Barfinger of the Church of the Redeemer, addressed the children along lines appropriate to the occasion. The evening service was, as usual, held in English, and the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer filled to the utmost. The speaker was the Rev. P. S. Baringer, whose text was the 87th Psalm, third verse, "Glorious things are spoken of Thee, O City of God." He extended the felicitations and congratulations of his congregation and expressed his pleasure at being able to participate in the pleasant occasion. Dwellings upon his text in his able manner, he described the "glory of Zion," the glory of the Lutheran Church and the glory of the old mother church. His words were listened to with close attention. Dr. Offermann made a short address in English.

A large choir and the Mannerchor of the church, conducted by Prof. Stump, rendered excellent music at both services.

In a few well chosen words the Rev. A. Schmidt, the pastor of the church, welcomed the guests, and especially the members of the Church of the Redeemer. He extended to them cordial greetings and said, "We are looking forward to the next great Lutheran occasion, which will be the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer."

An interesting feature of the morning service was the transmission of greetings by the pastor, the Rev. Schmidt, from William B. Scott, who wrote a lengthy letter from Edgewater, N. J. Mr. Scott, who was at one time clerk of the board of health here, was confirmed by the first pastor of the church and received his instruction in the first parochial school. In his letters he spoke of the many happy memories associated with the building of the first church edifice on Hunter street.

An Exception.
"First impressions are always lasting," they say," began the bothersome blunder.

"Oh, I guess not," horned in the fellow who usually begs to differ. "My dentist took half a dozen impressions of my gums before he built me this new chewing outfit."

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Jane Trethewey died in this city Sunday, Feb. 23, aged 70 years. She is survived by two sons, Joseph of Hoboken, N. J., Thomas of Poughkeepsie and one daughter, Mrs. Edwin Kuttan, of this city. The funeral will be held in the Ponchockle Church, Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m. Interment in Montrose cemetery.

Edward A. Butler, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Butler, nee Theresa Stokes, died at the residence of his parents on Sunday. The funeral was held from the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Stokes, 127 Pine Grove avenue, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

John F. Corcoran died at his home, No. 20 DuBois street, Saturday, following a short illness. He was employed at the Herget brush plant, and was a very popular and well liked young man. Besides his mother, Mrs. Terrance Corcoran, he is survived by two brothers, Edward J. of New York, and Terrance, a member of the United States army in France, and three sisters, Mrs. David Cummings of Brooklyn, Mrs. Henry Lammick and Miss Minnie Corcoran of New York city. The funeral will be held from the late residence Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of the Rev. James A. Kelly, son of Alderman and Mrs. John J. Kelly, was held this morning from St. Mary's Church, where a Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. The Rt. Rev. Mr. Michael J. Lavelle presided and the mass was celebrated by the Rev. Cornelius Cronin as subdeacon and the Rev. J. V. McGlain as sacristan. The Rev. Emanuel Carel was master of ceremonies. The panegyric was delivered by the Rt. Rev. Mr. John P. Chidwick. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and the church services were largely attended by friends and relatives. Many of the clergy were also present. The remains of Father Kelly were removed from the home of his parents on Lindsley avenue Sunday evening to St. Mary's Church, where they lay in state before the high altar with members of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society acting as a guard of honor. The guard of honor was William O'Reilly, Joseph A. Sheppard, Paul McKeon, Frank Rafferty, John Conroy, James Sullivan, Joseph McNellis, Charles Partlan, E. Frank Flanagan, Edmund Britt and Walter McDonough. Sunday evening at the church, the Litany of the Dead was chanted, the antiphonaries being the Rev. J. P. Neumann and the Rev. Stephen P. Connolly. The church services this morning were very impressive. Interment was made in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Just for a Chance.

Salzmunn Safety Hearing Later.

The other day Labor Agent George H. Jones of the Albany department, paid a visit to the bakery of Mrs. Elizabeth Salzmunn on Abel street, and later swore out a warrant for her arrest, alleging that she had neglected or failed to provide proper safety devices to stop car in case hoist rope broke, on elevator car of hand power operated elevator in the bakery. The elevator is used to hoist flour and material used in baking. Mrs. Salzmunn, through her attorney, Chris Flanagan, entered a plea of not guilty, and the hearing was adjourned to March 21.

Happy Memory Precious.
In one of Dostoevsky's novels the hero at the last of the book talking to some little school fellows who have learned to love him says: "You must know that there is nothing higher and stronger and more wholesome and good for life in the future than some good memory, especially a memory of childhood, of home. People talk to you a great deal about your education, but some good, sacred memory, preserved from childhood, is perhaps the best education. If a man carries many such memories with him into life, he is safe to the end of his days, and if one has only one good memory left in one's heart, even that may sometimes be the means of saving us."

Turtle's Homing Instinct.

Recent experiences of a resident in Millford, N. J., suggest that one of the characteristics of the land turtle is a homing instinct as keen as that of the carrier pigeon. For the last six years a turtle has been living in his garden. Having decided that he had no further use for it, he took it one day to Mount Pleasant, some distance away, and dropped it there. Within a fortnight it was back in his garden. At the beginning of the summer he carried it across the Delaware river, after marking its shell. A few weeks ago he saw a familiar object creeping up the garden path. Neither mountain nor flood could baffle the turtle's affection for its old home and it found its way back.

Who Could Blame Hilda?

A Minneapolis woman had as her guests for a Sunday dinner four soldiers who had received her invitation through the War Camp Community Club. During dinner the hostess was very much annoyed by her Swedish maid. Every time she served the boys she burst out giggling. Unable to stand it longer the woman followed her into the kitchen and demanded:

"Why, Hilda, what do you mean by insulting my guests in this manner? I can't understand it."

"Oh," giggled Hilda, "one of tem soldiers ban my fellow."

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

The Stroller Hears That a Lot of sickness is Due to Last Year's Flu—HE, First Child.

"Have you any children?" asked the busy barber to the customer.

"No," replied the customer in a surprised tone of voice, "why?"

"Nothing in particular," replied the barber with a chuckle, "only around the block from me is a neighbor who has just welcomed his first baby."

"Where is the baby?" queried the customer as the barber continued to chuckle.

"No joke at all," replied the barber, "only whenever any one passes the house they are invited in to look at the kid, the glad parents evidently having an idea that their child is the only one that was ever born."

"I won't be doing that when the doctor leaves another bundle at the house," commented the customer.

"Speaking of physicians," said the barber, "reminds me that there is a great lot of sickness in the city."

"So it seems," replied the customer, "and what do you think is the reason?"

"I asked this doctor about it while shaving him," replied the barber, "and his opinion was that a lot of the sickness was due to the flu epidemic last October."

"In what way?" queried the customer.

"He said," explained the barber, "that it left a great many folks in a weakened condition, and that when the system is run down there is less resistance to disease germs offered, and as a result a lot of people are ill."

"Sounds reasonable," said the friends.

THE STROLLER

HOMESPUN YARN.

A change of fortune hurts a wise man no more than a change of the moon.—Poor Richard.

No country can become richer than its lands. And can any country have ideals higher than the ideals of its homes?

A lot of bother, you may think; but if you ruse the feet of your stockings each night the added wear the stockings will give will pay for the bother.

A half cup of vinegar and a teaspoon of alum added to a part of water is all you need to make fast that blue cotton or linen of which you are suspicious.

Undernourished children are not good pupils. Their undernourishment may be the result of lack of food or of a lack of knowledge of food values on the part of their parents.

It's the woman who is likely to think most about the appearance of the home grounds. Bulletin 331, which the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca will send for the asking, deals with this subject.

New York manufacturers stood fifth in the consumption of the 740 million pounds of wool, grease equivalent, used in the United States last year. Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and New Jersey came ahead of New York in the order named.

A Bad Prospect.

"Do you expect your son home soon, Mrs. Grubbs?"

"Oh, no. He thinks he won't be demoralized inside six months."

ORGANIZER OF ULSTER SOCIETY

JOSEPH DRAKE.

To Joseph Drake, printer and former newspaper reporter in Kingston credit is due for the organization of the Ulster County Society which held its annual banquet at the Biltmore, New York city, Saturday night. That Mr. Drake is a live wire everyone of his many friends in this city knows. He left Kingston late in life and in the big city has made good, although there were some when he went away who were of the opinion he would soon come back to his old home town. Recently Mayor Canfield appointed Mr. Drake chairman of the committee made up of former Kingston citizens who are in New York to look up and care for disabled soldiers and sailors who belong in this city. The mayor knows that the matter will be carefully looked after by Mr. Drake and the committee.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Feb. 24.—One evening not long ago Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Beatty entertained a few friends in honor of Corporal Louis C. Goodrich. The following were included in the party: Miss Marian Mori, Miss Hazel Mori, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie B. Mori and twin daughters, Gladys and Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Mori and Mr. and Mrs. John Olson.

Blair Lund returned to Esopus on Sunday afternoon from a week's stay in Larchmont, Gardone, N. Y., with his mother and brothers, Carl and Rudolph.

Friends of Alfred Terpening will be glad to know that he is feeling much better this week.

Mrs. S. E. Mott celebrated the birthday of her mother, Mrs. O. E. McLain, on Friday of this week by inviting some of Mrs. McLain's friends for the day. The guests were Mrs. John O. Beatty, Mrs. Edward Ashton, Mrs. Alfred Terpening, Mrs. Amy Sheeley and Mrs. Emma Dickerson. A sumptuous dinner was served. Carnation pinks were used for the table decorations. Mrs. McLain also was presented with two large bouquets of the same flower. Just before the departure of the guests a large birthday cake with lighted candles, was placed upon the dining table. After the candles were extinguished the cake was cut and served with other kinds of fancy cakes and delicious ice cream. Mrs. McLain's many friends, as well as the invited guests sincerely hope there will be many more birthdays in store for her.

Friends of Mrs. Emory Freer will regret to learn that she is seriously ill at her home in this village.

DUFFEY SEES WORK FOR EX-SOLDIERS

State Highway Work To Be Pushed During Summer Says Commissioner—Much Money Available.

By Telegram to The Freeman
Albany, Feb. 24.—Thousands of returning soldiers denied work in other fields may find occupation this summer with the state department of highways.

State Commissioner of Highways Edwin Duffey today declared there is available $23,000,000 for road construction during 1919. The entire amount in the opinion of Commissioner Duffey will be at hand for the work. He based this on conferences he has had with the legislative leaders and others interested in road construction which has been held up since America's entry into the war. Five millions of the $23,000,000, Commissioner Duffey recommends to be appropriated from the bond issue.

Contracts already in force call for $5,000,000 worth of road work, and plans have been prepared for additional $5,000,000 funds for which are available from the 1916 appropriation which was not used because of war conditions. Beside these amounts Commissioner Duffey says that the specifications for roads to be constructed with federal aid are ready and will amount to $1,500,000.

The commissioner is zealous to advertise for proposals at the earliest possible moment, he says, but many contractors have been abandoned by the completion of these contracts will be required from some source.

"I have taken this matter up separately with the legislative leaders," said Commissioner Duffey, "and I am confident that it will receive immediate attention. These are the roads which will naturally have to be given preference owing to the conditions in which they were left by the contractors who abandoned them."

The counties which pay a part of the cost of the roads for which plans have been drawn in many instances, according to the commissioner, will see that increased funds will be given to meet the advanced figures of the original estimates. Completion of this road work will depend upon the promptness of the counties in taking this action, and as soon as they provide the money the contracts can be awarded.

Maintenance and repair of roads will begin as soon as the legislature passes and Governor Smith approves a bill carrying an appropriation of $5,500,000 for this work. The assembly has already passed this bill which was introduced in the lower house committee.

Commissioner Duffey predicts a drop in the prices of road materials and foresees that labor will be plentiful, which he claims would reduce costs of road building appreciably as contrasted with prevailing estimated costs.

Rev. Cranston to Remain Here.

Rev. George M. Cranston, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, having received a unanimous call to return from the official board to his charge in this city, expects favorable action from the New York M. E. conference which convenes in Metropolitan Temple, New York city, in April. It is said there is no warrant for a story that was current that Rev. Cranston has received a call from elsewhere. Since his pastorate at the Clinton Avenue church, Rev. Cranston has endeared himself to the members and congregation, and they would be loth to see him go.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

2154—A Pretty Summer Dress With Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

Organdy, dimity, shantung and foulard are nice for this model. The waist fronts are finished in surplice style. The skirt has plaited panels and gathered fullness over the hips. Jaunty pockets afford a practical and suitable trimming.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measurements. It requires 6 yards of 44-inch material for a 38-inch size. The skirt measures about 3½ yards with plaits drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE SPRING AND SUMMER CATALOGUE, 1919, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a CONCISE AND COMPREHENSIVE ARTICLE ON DRESSMAKING, ALSO SOME POINTS FOR THE NEEDLE (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A PIONEER MUSICIAN.

Weed Tells of Playing For Army of Occupation.

Musician Charles E. Weed, of the 51st Pioneer Band, A. E. F., in a letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Weed, 26 East St. James street, Wednesday, tell of meeting a number of Kingston soldier boys. He writes about rumors of the 51st Pioneers coming home in March. They having sailed for overseas on July 26, 1918, but he says it seems like six years. His letter follows:

American Expeditionary Forces.
Young Men's Christian Association.
Army of Occupation.

Jan. 26th, 1919.
Dear Mother and Dad—Just a few lines to let you know I am still on top of the heap. Have been feeling fine. Never better, guess the German atmosphere agrees with me.

Yesterday we were away for the day to play for Co. D of our regiment. We go to the different battalions and companies about twice a week. The boys certainly seem to appreciate it. Quite often I see boys from home. When we played for the third battalion I saw Frank Schupp, Bob Rice, Geschwinder, Roy Markle Decker and a lot more that I can't think of just now.

Lieut. Silverstein is going to take me to Coblenz this coming week to look at a cello. I may buy it if it's worth the money. Sure would like to get one while I'm here if I can get one better than mine home.

There are some rumors about us coming home about March, but that's only "rumors." When I get back and hit the shores I'll send you a telegram; so some time if the messenger boy delivers a telegram don't be alarmed, for it will only be to notify you I am back home again.

Believe me, mother and dad, I can't imagine a happier moment in my life than when I walk in and see you two. After going through the war and returning means more to us boys than anyone can imagine. I have so longed to talk to you and tell you I'll never stop talking and the best part of it all is I can sit down to a real table with china dishes and will be considered as good as all the others by the table.

Is grandma still with you? If so, tell her I send my love and cite my love to Newell and especially the two little red-heads.

Have dad stop in Hoffman's and tell the boys I'll be back to cheer the rag with them some time this summer. I hope.

I wrote a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Van Steenburgh expressing my sympathy and telling them where I was.

It's just six months ago today we sailed out of Hoboken (July 26th). Time sure does fly, although some times it seems like six years.

Have to go and play church services so will close for now with all my love. I am

HUDSON MIDGETS 6

Friday afternoon the local High School Midgets went to Hudson where they defeated the team of that place. The game was very much decided from the very start. The Hudson team had won six successive games and it looked as if they were to be the champions of the eastern section of the state. However the Midgets spoiled their run of luck and thoroughly quenched their ideas of championship.

Next Friday night the St. Mary's team from Poughkeepsie intend to come up here to play. Every one may be sure to see a wonderfully good game if they come. It will be of hurricane style from the beginning until the end. Following is the score:

FOR LAWYERS AND LITIGANTS

The court of appeals reconvened at Albany today. Among the cases on the calendar for Wednesday is an appeal growing out of an award for damages given by a damage commission against New York city to John G. Van Eiten of this city, owner of a large farm in the town of Marlborough.

Justice Nichols will preside at the regular special term of the supreme court to be held at the court house on Saturday, March 1, in place of Justice Hasbrouck who is at Miami, Fla. It is expected that after the close of the special term session Justice Nichols will hear further testimony in the action brought by Alexander Houghtaling against the New York Central Railroad, an action for compensation for damages claimed for injuries sustained by plaintiff who was an employee of defendant. This will be an adjourned hearing, the matter having come twice since January 1 before Justice Nichols.

A hearing was held in U. S. District Court in New York city in the matter of the involuntary bankruptcy of P. A. Lasher of this city.

Lawyer D. G. Atkins, who by reason of changes to be made in the Ulster County National Bank building, will be compelled to seek new quarters, will about April 1st move from 43 John street to the second floor of the Nekos building, 309 Wall street, where he has leased a suite of well-lighted offices.

It All Depends.

"But you must admit, sir," said the aggressive party, "that a man ought to be the boss in his own house."
"Y-yes, I suppose so," answered the meek and lowly man with the scanty hair, "but the house I live in happens to belong to my wife."

TRIANGLES SUFFER
SECOND DEFEAT

The Triangles had one of their off nights Friday and met defeat at the Catskill Y. M. C. A. by a score of 41 to 24, losing to the Catskill team in the second half of the game. Johnson had not fully recovered from an injury he received in the Saugerties game and Dolson had been indisposed for several days. These two fast forwards of the Triangles played an excellent game but did not seem to be equal to their usual old time emerald playing. Had the Triangles made good their opportunities for scoring in the second half they could have overwhelmed the opponents. At one time the ball remained near their goal and they failed to score on nine successive short throws, making a total of only 7 points in this half, while the opponents made good every opportunity scoring a total of 23 points in the last half.

Had the referee made proper decisions and enforced the rules this would have been one of the most pretty games yet played, as the Triangles played a fast clean game and the Catskill team is certainly speedy, but use too many football tactics. The referee was only a joke and his whistle seemed to stick and would blow only for a held ball or goal. Double dribble, running with the ball, personal contact, holding and shoving seemed to meet with his approval. It seemed he evidently tried to be too agreeably fearing he might offend the players.

This is only the second defeat the Triangles have met this season and Wednesday, March 5th, this fast team goes to Hudson, N. Y., to play the crack Irish-American team in the armory there, dancing will follow the game. This Irish-American team recently defeated the Troy team on which the Wachter boys of Hudson River League fame now play. Following is the score and summary:

Worthy Son of Nippon.

One of the first Japanese settlers in California was Kaime Nagasawa, the present owner of one of the largest wineries in the state. In 1863 the then young Nagasawa was sent to Scotland for education, by the prince of Satsuma. While in Edinburgh he was befriended by a Mr. Harris, founder of a certain religious faith of high idealism. In 1868 Harris came to the United States to found an ideal colony, and Nagasawa accompanied him to New York, where he stayed for over ten years. When Harris established a colony in Santa Rosa in 1880 Nagasawa was his confidant and fellow pioneer. By his zeal and industry he converted the wilderness into a vineyard and today his vines command the highest prices in the markets of London and Paris.

Don't Seek Happiness.

Sidney Smith said that a great many people hunt for happiness as an absent-minded man hunts for his hat, running about everywhere looking for it, when all the time it is in his hand or on his head. You can be happy right where you are, if you can be happy anywhere. The materials for content are in your hands. Don't hunt. Use them.

CURIOSITY CAUSES FIRE

Man Applies a Match to See if Coal Oil Will Burn.

Inquisitiveness on the part of an employee of the Grand Trunk Railway company, who applied a match to a pool of coal oil "to see if it would burn," was responsible for the conflagration which wiped out the freight sheds, offices and 28 loaded and unloaded cars of the company at Ottawa, Can., with a total loss of $112,000.

Henry Daoust, a freight handler, who appeared at the investigation proceedings with his face badly burned and one of his hands swathed in bandages, frankly told how he had come to start the blaze. He said he had noticed a pool of liquid on the floor of the freight shed, close to a number of barrels which had been shipped in from the inland revenue department.

He did not know what the liquid was, but was curious to see whether it would burn. He applied a match with the result that the liquid burst into a blue flame. Almost immediately an explosion occurred, which hurled him backward.

Wireless and Morale.

Since the armistice brought hostilities to an end it has been learned that the morale of the population of Lille was maintained by news taken from a French wireless station hidden from the Germans, according to Wireless Age. Good news spread quickly through underground channels. The people knew that ten thousand American soldiers were arriving daily. Airplanes also dropped many leaflets, which were eagerly taken despite German efforts to prevent their distribution.—Scientific American.

INDUSTRY ROSE TO NEEDS OF WAR

Great Britain Becomes Completely Independent of German Products.

NOW MEETS ALL DEMANDS

Before the War Germany Had Control of Much Raw Material That Was Vital—Finds Way to Supply Potash.

London.—A remarkable story of how British industries formerly dependent for their life blood on Germany have under the stress of war's demands arisen to a state of complete independence was told by Mr. Kellaway, parliamentary secretary to the British ministry of munitions, at a recent meeting of the industrial reconstruction council. Britain is now first in the world in almost every sphere of industrial effort, he said.

Beginning with raw materials, Mr. Kellaway showed that mica, absolutely essential to the electrical industry, was so controlled by Germany, although half the world's supply came from India, that when the war began the world's market was on the point of being transferred from London to Hamburg. But Indian mica now can be exported only to London, and the British electrical industry has taken the place Germany once held and is now the first in the world.

Before the war the British empire produced 40 per cent of the wolfram ore from which tungsten (essential for high speed steel and in metallic filaments) is made, but so successfully had Germany captured the trade that no British manufacturer was able to establish the industry in this country. To this position Germany owed her great superiority in munitions production in the earlier stages of the war. All that has been changed. Britain is now able to produce all the high speed steel she needs and to export at a reasonable price to her allies.

Controlled Australian Zinc.
Australia has practically unlimited supplies of zinc ore, but Germany obtained control of them, and 77 per cent of British pre-war supplies came from Germany, Belgium and Holland, Germany being Britain's largest supplier. But now Australia's output has been diverted, permanently, he hoped, to Great Britain.

Great Britain used to depend entirely on Germany for potash, essential for fertilizers, dyes, drugs and glass production. The war revealed that 50,000 tons of potash was going to waste here every year in the dust or fumes from blast furnace gases. That is now being collected. Germany had relied on her practical monopoly in Europe of natural deposits of potash to enable her to bargain for the recovery of her world markets. She will be disappointed. British enterprise and judicious government assistance have taken that power from her.

Machine tool production looked like an almost insoluble problem at the beginning of the war, but so greatly has production increased that before long the power of the engine will be the same as its weight in pounds, i. e., one pound per horse-power.

The British position in 1914 in regard to the production of magnetos was very grave, but, thanks to a display of grit in the face of almost insuperable difficulties, of resource and of patriotism as fine in its way as that shown by her fighting forces, the British magneto position has been established and made unassailable.

Foreign-Made Gun Sights.

The war was nearly lost because the British were almost entirely dependent on Germany and Austria for scientific and optical glass, essential to success.

It is humiliating, Mr. Kellaway continued, but it is the fact that at the outbreak of war a considerable part of our artillery was equipped with gun sights exclusively manufactured in Germany. Two British firms started making sights, but the position was exceedingly serious when the ministry of munitions was formed. Recently these two firms were producing 250 a week. The sight is a beautiful and delicate piece of work, and its production in such numbers and in a perfection which Germany never exceeded is a triumph for British skill.

Before the war the British optical and scientific instrument industry had degenerated into a collection of middlemen who mainly sold instruments completely manufactured in foreign countries. All that has been swept away by the bitter necessities of war, and Britain is now self-supporting. Her dependence on Germany and Austria for the glass for her miners' safety lamps very nearly landed her in disaster. The position was so serious that the home office had to relax the conditions as to the quality and dimensions of lamps. Now Great Britain is producing sufficient supplies of the right quality.

Before the war three out of every four electric light bulbs in use in Great Britain came from Germany or Austria. She is now manufacturing sufficient to meet her essential needs.

Dies From Cranking Car.

Springfield, Ill.—Exertion in cranking his automobile caused Theodore M. Bollinger's death, according to a coroner's jury. The strain resulted in dilation of the heart and he died ten minutes later.

Safety First.

"The porter is unusually attentive to your wants."

"Yes," replied the celebrated bacteriologist.

"You must have traveled on this road a number of times before and tipped him liberally."

"That isn't the reason. The conductor told him that I had in a little bottle in my suitcase enough germs to kill an army and the porter has made up his mind that no accident is going to befall me if he can possibly prevent it."

TRENCH PAPERS DIE AT END OF THE WAR

Memory of Little Sheets That Enlivened Army Life Will Live Forever.

The trench newspaper died with the end of the world war, but in England and France today there are not a few soldiers who, although naturally joyous at the thought of peace, betray a degree of sadness because of the disappearance of these famous little publications.

Editors and reporters were sought out to serve the occasion from all ranks and conditions. Typewriters, papers and pencils were spirited from somewhere, and the trench papers were produced, in most cases, on the firing line. They had to overcome innumerable difficulties. Laughing at death and destruction, it was their mission to lighten the task of the fighting men.

But now the little papers have been scrapped. Editorial offices in the shape of dugouts, bell tents and broken-down huts were stripped with the signing of the armistice, and the Squib, Rocket or Patriot remain only as memories.

It is said of one of these little publications on the British front that not one of the original editorial staff lived to read the last words of the paper they brought into being. Men came and went, but the paper was preserved until the last.

Time to Quit Then.
"Do you expect to spend your whole life in the wicked pursuit of riches?" asked the ascetic person.
"No," replied the brisk individual.
"If I'm not rich by the time I reach fifty years of age, I shall consider myself an ignoble failure!"

SHE WAS ON.

Maisie—I ain't goin' to take any more music lessons.
Her Mother—Why not?
Maisie—I don't see any use in paying that professor one dollar twice a week just to come here and make love to sister.

CORN GREW ON HOUSE ROOF

Strange Place, Well Authenticated, Chosen by Nature to Produce the Staff of Life.

For several weeks farmers on the Lane road observed a green substance on the roof of an abandoned house on the Le Gale farm, says a Gaffner Falls (N. Y.) correspondent. They watched it grow until it attained a height of 5 feet. The men reported the phenomenon, but were laughed at.

However, Jabez Montow, who watched the green substance for four weeks, invited the village president, H. E. Shotts, and two others to accompany him to the house for an investigation.

The men accepted the invitation. A ladder was obtained from the engine house, placed in an automobile truck and the men went to the house. There they found two stalks of corn 6 feet in length, with two large and well-formed ears of corn on each stalk protruding from the roof. The men entered the garret of the house and found the hill of corn in a mass of soot and dirt, an accumulation of years.

The stalks were removed and brought to town. They measured 9 feet in length, 2 feet being beneath the roof. The men each took an ear of corn, which is of the red variety, for seed next season.

Few Presidents Rich.
The Roosevelt fortune was different, moreover, in being mainly an inherited fortune. Its possessor may have added to it in his lifetime, but, as in the case of other presidents, most of his personal earnings in a period of forty years of public life were absorbed in the support of his family. No other president has ever enjoyed such advantages of remunerative publicity as Mr. Roosevelt, and besides his salary from official positions his income from his books and from editorial work must have been large. Yet it is a fair inference that if these had been the sole sources of his support he would have died a poor man, as Cleveland did, and most of their predecessors in the White House.

This has been the common financial fate of presidents, and the example of Mr. Roosevelt probably merely proved the rule that the office of president is not economically productive in any logical proportion to its exalted state and onerous political qualifications.

MOLYNEAUX SEES BRIGHT FUTURE

Financial Uncertainty Ended With the War and People Will Not Be Afraid to Invest in Automobiles This Year.

A. F. MOLYNEUX.

A. F. Molyneux of the Ulster Garage, handling Cadillac cars says of the prospects of the automobile business this year:

"For the past two years, or since April, 1917, the financial outlook has caused many persons to refrain from buying the car which they had in mind and for which they had no other use, either for pleasure or business. Successive Liberty Loans, demands of war charities, and the unstable condition of industries, other than those manufacturing munitions, made the careful and prudent man hesitate before investing his spare capital or cash in automobiles, and made him absolutely refrain from borrowing on his securities, or from his working capital for that purpose. Such ideas and policies under such conditions, were laudible and logical business policies.

"With the signing of the armistice, however, and the rapid advance toward a permanent peace made by the peace conference, normal business conditions are assured. Congress has just decided that there will not be any future loans, but that short term notes, bonds and certificates, which will be absorbed by the banks and big financial interests, will be issued. This will relieve the general public and release to their use the funds that would ordinarily have been so invested or employed. The stringent financial policy of banks, fostered and forced by the compiler of currency, will be alleviated, and business must and will rapidly become normal.

"To sum up, financial difficulties are over, and if you have hesitated about buying that car for financial reasons, do so no longer.

"Business conditions are sometimes psychological and poor times can sometimes be brought about by pessimistic minds, and this is true to some extent at the present time; but it is not the true or accurate condition. The world has been without many products and commodities for a long time. Until the time that production has equalized these conditions, times cannot help but be good, and the financial horizon is bright.

"Therefore, our Kingston Automobile Show will be a success, for more people than ever before are interested, as prospective purchasers and will want to look the various makes of cars over before buying."

OLYMPIC HAS WAR RECORD AS TRANSPORT

Has Carried 300,000 Persons Safely Across Atlantic Since 1914.

The White Star liner Olympic holds the war record as a transport, having transported 300,000 persons, mostly soldiers, safely since 1914. It was the Olympic that tried to tow the British warship Audacious into port after the latter had hit a mine. The Olympic took troops to Gallipoli, brought Chinese labor battalions to France and since Christmas, 1917, until the armistice was signed, carried American troops.

The Olympic, while carrying U. S. soldiers during March, April and May, was seven times attacked by U-boats, but not once did the enemy have time to launch a torpedo, owing to the sharp lookout kept and the wonderful seamanship of Captain Hayes, her commander, and work of the destroyers. The Olympic was armed with six 4-inch guns and used them effectively.

The vessel is not without war scars, having been shelled by her plates in returning a U-boat, from which 28 members of the crew were made prisoners. This occurred in the early morning of the last May, when a U-boat that had a crew of 10, sailed in the sea darkness to attack the American transport. The Olympic's whistles about, and she fired her guns, and made for the U-boat, a score of her guns, a six inch shell was planted in the bow of the craft and divided past. By the light of star shells a destroyer fired up 21 torpedoes, three of whom died.

Different Viewpoints.

"Most of us would be surprised if we could see ourselves as others see us," remarked the member.

"Yes," rejoined the demoralized, "and most of the others would be shocked if they could see us as we see ourselves."

Brief Definition of Man to Whom Many Will Claim the World Owes its Salvation.

An humble man who, one July afternoon in 1914, left at two hours' notice his Parisian shop or workshop, or his ripe wheat fields or his ripening vines, for a military depot he had never liked, and had managed to tolerate only because soldiering and all things soldierly are likable to the Frenchman and take on halo in his imagination, was packed to the Belgian frontier; made the acquaintance of danger under all its forms; fought, hungered, hungered and thirsted for days; knew the trenches when they were in their crudest novelty and worse than the badger's hole; got wounded and lay for hours, sometimes days, where he had fallen, or crawled miles to a hurried surgeon and to the torturing goods trucks pompously labeled sanitary trains; got well and went back to the depot, and then back to the front and to fighting or being shellshocked; and so on during the four years, with the ever disappointing certainty that "next winter must be the last" of that imminent coming in of this or that nation must bring the end.

Aviator's Heart Enlarged.
Doctors Etienne and Lamy of Nancy, France, have conducted a series of X-ray examinations of the hearts of aviators and have found evidence of considerable enlargement. The heart enlargement sets in early in the flying man's career, being noticeable after five months of experience in the air. The degree of enlargement is roughly proportioned to the height at which the aviator is accustomed to fly, so that simple examination of the X-ray plate suffices to determine a man's plane of flying service; whether he is doing chasing or bombing work at high altitudes, or is engaged at harrying infantry, etc., at comparatively low altitudes.

The enlargement seems to be symmetrical, and it does not appear to involve serious trouble. It is due to the heart's adapting itself to the extra work put upon it by changes in the blood circulation because of the varying conditions in the atmosphere, through which the aviator flies, and to the general happenings incident to aviation.
